Class Poem

"Our School, Our Ship"

by Hannah Blanchard

A crowded ship awaits departure,
A gallery of faces ready to leave the harbor.
On this raft for twelve years
We've had our memories; we've cried our tears.
Constantly lectured, yet constantly trying,
To learn the knowledge and leave the island.

Amusing how we've come so far,
Yet we still do not know who we really are.
A group of individuals separated by friends
Finally working to reach the end.
Our time's expired; we've had our share,
Of our mentors' cordial care.

Held close together by the past,
Surely this day has come too fast.
The waves have plummeted and altered our boat,
Yet as a whole, we've stayed afloat.
At last the end, time to say good-bye,
Now spread your wings and start to fly.

For our ship will remain for years to come,
Yet we will go on, separate, one by one.
Individual journeys accompanied by fear,
Open your hearts, and you will hear
The joys and spirits of your oldest friends,
Cheering you on, for dreams never end.

*These years are floating from our memories
Simple pages read, turned, and forgotten.
Hidden somewhere in our sleeping minds or in the pictures that stain our walls.
The exact moment when we learned to walk is misplaced, lost beneath the dust of time, but we will always place its face:
(oceans of crimson fields and sensitive trees)
Here, under a blanket of vermillion leaves and the colors that woke us each morning, we learned first to crawl and now to walk away.
We have let go of the hands that have cradled us for so long.
And with incredible strength and support
we leave their shelter behind.
Falling into an uncertainty,
greater than our narrow eyes can comprehend,
we enter a world we couldn't ever know.
Our fragile existence is finally cracked.
With shakey hands we rebuilt it,
painting it with the colors of our memories.
Spinning our dreams to consciousness*

Bree A. Rolfe

We the class of 1994, are all individuals who are proud of our accomplishments yet are still striving for our own identities. Confident and ready to step out into the world, a brand new world, we've only just begun to comprehend. So many roads to take and so many paths to follow this is where we begin the rest of our lives.

This year the class of 1994 would like to dedicate our yearbook to HARMONY, a cause that many of us take for granted.

Take a few moments, or spend the rest of your lives if you wish, searching for the answers, for these answers are the keys to life's successes.

Do not let yourself be a victim of an uneducated world; teach each other to accept the DIFFERENCES.

Fight the spread of prejudice and violence; preconceived notions are sometimes empty, but at times they're filled with HATE.

Take the time to care for our environment; we are not the only ones who must LIVE in it.

Appreciate your mind and body; you are the ones in CONTROL of it.

Don't let society whisk you by; HARMONIZE!

IN Perspective

it's not man or materialistic for that matter. it's partly an action, a little bit of emotion, and a kind of idea all in one.

it's perspective.

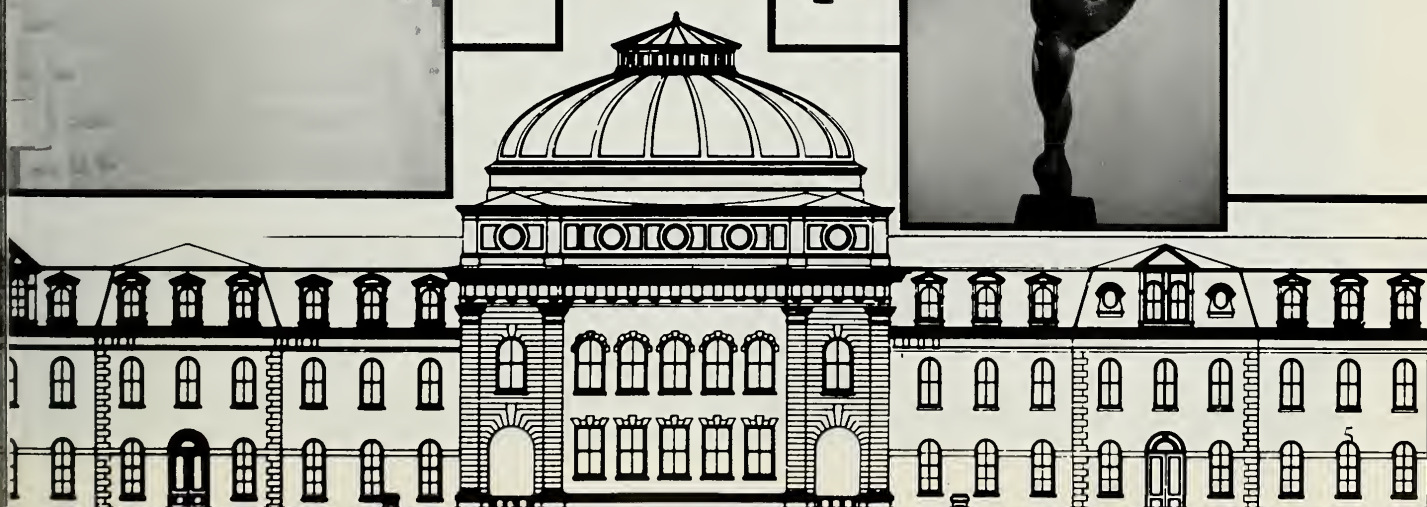

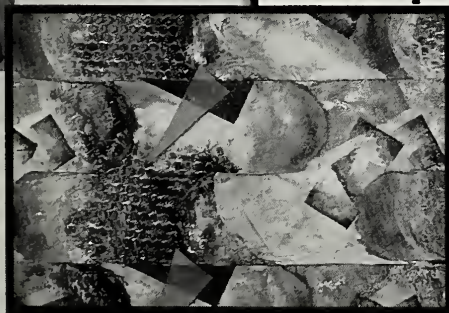

our perspective.

the way we see things. or the way we want them to be or was or is or could be.

perspective is expression of soul, of mind. it is one of the things that we possess that is totally ours and always will be.

this yearbook celebrates the class of 94's distinct perspective of the world, of us.

we don't want to just live the world, we want to be the world.

Administration

To the Class of 1994,

You are exceptional students! You have helped each other reach this plateau of success, accomplishment, and joy. You each took the time and interest to encourage each other to succeed in the classroom and in all extra-curricula activities. Your talents are numerous — develop them, polish them, and use them to improve yourself and our quality of life.

Your generosity and sincerity will provide even greater pride and dedication to all future classes.

Thank you for keeping your "Commitment to Excellence."

Thomas M. Long
Principal

Congratulations to the Class of 1994 on your many positive accomplishments. "If you would have things come your way, go after them" . . . E. Burke

Thank you for your commitment to Carver High School and I wish you well with your future plans.

Yearbook Message

To the Class of 1994,

You are the first graduating class to have spent six full years as students at Carver High School. Your contributions to the school in establishing traditions, providing examples for the younger students, and in the areas of sports and academics, have been significant.

Thank you for what you have done for Carver High School. I want to wish each of you success and happiness in your future.

Dan Daly

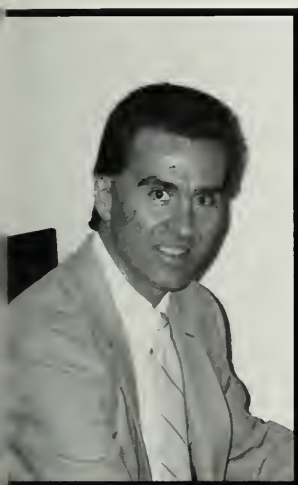

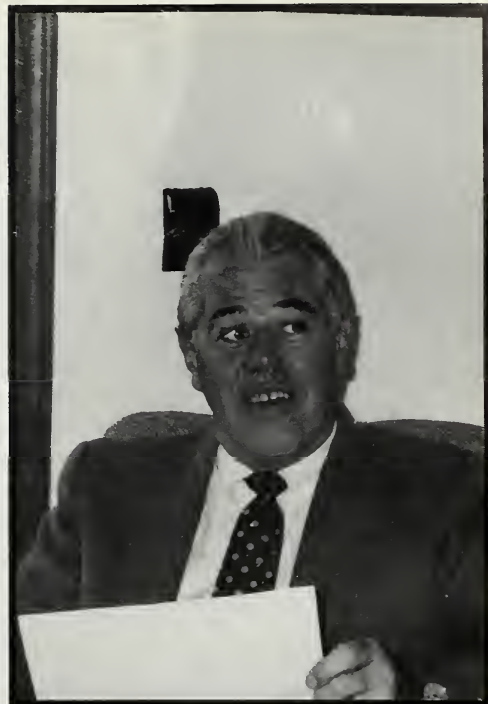

PENNY SCOTT — DIRECTOR OF PUPIL PERSONNEL

Superintendent

When I reflect on the Class of 1994 my thoughts go to September of 1988. On a fall day, you made the transition from elementary school to your first day at Carver High School. On that same fall day in September of 1988, I began my first day as Superintendent of Schools in Carver.

We have accomplished much over our six-year journey. We look with pride to our successes, and we remember, with some disappointment, our failures, but most of all, we remember that we have grown as individuals and we have learned as much from our failures as we have from our successes. We have learned that life is a continual learning process, and that we will always treasure the gift of life-long learning.

You are my first graduating class as Carver's first pre-school through grade twelve Superintendent. I will always have a very special feeling for the Class of 1994. I congratulate you for your hard work and wish you much success.

RELEAF

Carver High School's Environmental group, RELEAF, was begun in the spring of 1992. With the assistance of advisors Mrs. Marzelli and Mrs. MacNeil, RELEAF became an active part of Carver High School. Shannon Doyle was elected president, Merry Grimes and Megan Webster were elected co-chairpersons, Jonathan Fenelon was elected treasurer, and Bree Rolfe was elected secretary. RELEAF members sold lunch bags, sold t-shirts at the Art Expo, taught sixth graders about the tropical rain forest, and assisted the Master Plan Committee. RELEAF plans to continue educating elementary school students, as well as promoting environmental awareness at Carver High School.

Peerleadership has grown to become one of the largest groups in the school. Under the watchful eye of advisor Ruth Lynch, the peerleaders work together and speak to elementary school students on a wide range of topics.

Peerleadership is made up of 2 groups being the Senior Peerleaders (grades 9-12) and the Junior Peerleaders (grades 7+8) who pledge to be drug, alcohol, and tobacco free.

MATH

Math League, coached by Mrs. Simpson, competes against local schools — Plymouth North, Plymouth South, and Silver Lake. On the first Tuesday of every month an in-school meet is held. The following Thursday is a meet at another school.

The team is led by the seniors; JoJo Fenelon, Molly Hunstiger, Randy Souza, Dan Ward and Tim Wakelin. Providing back bone for next year are juniors, sophomores and freshmen. Much future potential is found in these young people. The Math League is an intellectual group of students whose hard work and talent has made them competitive with much larger schools.

The Drama Club is a very unique organization, built of talented actors and actresses. Our first production of the year, Raggedy Ann and Andy, was very successful. Directed by our distinguished advisor, Mary McNeil, she turned Rag dolls to real life friends. Our next production will be under the direction of Wendy Simeone, who has joined the production staff this year. The Drama Club is led by President Bree Rolfe, Vice-President Jesse Sullivan, Secretary Kim Arabie, and Treasurer Wendy Olson. Other senior producers are Katie Sullivan, Amanda Johnson, and Heather Shaughnessy. All of this year's seniors have been in Drama since our first production of "Winnie the Pooh." We have all grown to love the stage. We bid a fond farewell to Ms. McNeil and the CJS Drama Club. We wish you all the luck and success that the stage has to offer!!!

THE CRUSADER

I WISH YOU A MERRY TURKEY

A Column by Greg Johnson

On September 25, 1993, Filene's began construction on their Christmas display. Trees, ornaments, lights, cards, garlands, and dolls were put into place. On October 18, 1993, they began to play Christmas carols.

Believe it or not, the holiday shopping season had begun — three months early. Moreover, it's not only the major shopping holidays of December that have received early and extensive attention. Halloween gets its fair share of advance coverage, too. Pumpkin heads and witch-faced window candles, mini-decorative Halloween trees and ornaments, paper-pumpkin garlands, smash-proof plastic pumpkins . . . anything remotely related to the "spirit" of a holiday is displayed weeks and weeks before the holiday and bought by gullible shoppers.

Holiday over-kill has been stimulated by the greeting card industry. As if Valentine's Day cards aren't enough, we now must deal with cards for Thanksgiving, Halloween, St. Patrick's Day — what's next, a greeting card for Columbus Day? Or, how about Arbor Day?

I don't think anybody wants to hear "White Christmas" two weeks before Halloween, so why do stores shove their rendition of the holiday spirit down our throats? It's disgusting to see how retailers try to pervert the calendar in order to highlight at least one shopper holiday monthly — that is a holiday where festive stuff can be sold to celebrate it. They attempt to make people think that they have to buy a certain holiday spirit. For example, you will be very thankful for what you have on Thanksgiving if you buy a cardboard "Indian" cutout, or you will truly be loved if someone buys you a stuffed heart on Valentine's Day, or you will be exceptionally patriotic if you buy a little plastic flag on the Fourth of July — it's pathetic.

Can't you just imagine it, a hundred years from now, children will hang up stockings and wait for Timothy Turke (the spirit of Thanksgiving) to deliver all their presents. My nightmare and the retailer's dream — screaming bratty kids waiting in line to sit in the lap of a guy in an over-stuffed turkey suit.

Nobody seems to remember the meaning of "the holiday spirit." We should be celebrating the time you have with your loved ones, not measuring how much someone loves you by the price tag on a gift or how much candy you get. Whatever happened to the message, "Peace on earth and good will toward men?" I believe it has been changed to "Will that be cash or charge?"

CARVER: THE ATHENS OF MASSACHUSETTS

A Column by Bree Rolfe

Carver. A quaint town, nestled snugly on the south shore of Massachusetts, is famous for its vividly colored and sour-tasting berries. But there's more to Carver than cranberries. It's a town dripping with culture. Now, I have lived in this town for well over a decade, but in that time I have never grown to appreciate it, so I was determined to find out its mysterious charm, so one day Randy Souza and I set out to capture the soul of Carver.

Our first venture was to Shaw's supermarket. At first, it may seem like a mere supermarket; but oh no, Shaw's is a cultural hot spring, it's bursting with the flavor of Carver. Shaw's serves as a meeting ground for the townspeople to exchange information about their various friends and neighbors. Ethnic foods, like frozen burritos and canned spaghetti, are widely accessible. And don't overlook the enlightening reading materials available at every cashier's. I mean, where else can you find that many copies of the National Enquirer?

Our next stop was Tiki Kye, the Chinese restaurant down the street. Tiki Kye possesses a distinct atmosphere similar to a symphony hall's. My partner and I were delighted to receive a table at the hopping place. We were even more delighted to dine on cuisine we could barely recognize as edible. (Now that's culture.)

Throughout our extensive journey into the heart of Carver, we went to all the numerous pizza shops. We discovered that, overall, they were about the same although some were bilingual which was a added treat. We preferred the ones with languages other than English, but ones with heavy accents were also rated highly. As for the food, well we didn't try any, but who cares! They sound cool when they take your order (and if you're lucky you may get what you asked for). What more could you want?

Along with the plethora of pizzerias, Carver has its share of fine mental services. We only went to the two most popular ones: Video and Mac's Movies. Both had a variety of films, including classics like The Search for the Holy Grail and Saturday Night Fever, but Mac's had a far superior candy selection. However, Video has moved into the twentieth century with computers. (Yes, we were impressed too.)

Next stop were the donut shops. Both were completely stimulating. The philosophical discussions blew my mind. In fact, we had leave we felt so inferior. Aside for the conversations, they both had a variety of colorful and creative snacks. However, Honey Dew's fried portraits of muffins and something called a Big Bear, made it much more creative. Both seemed to have their radios locked on the early 80's soft rock station. In my opinion, this is a "must" for a donut shop to be culturally adequate.

Well, our journey came to a reluctant close when we visited the Cumberland Farms. (Cumberlands have always been a cultural gathering center for the youths of Carver. In fact, their parking lots have often been compared to the market place in ancient Greece where young scholars went to converse and philosophize with the masters like Plato and Socrates.) The Cumberland's in the center of town serves as the gathering place for the pre-teen crowd. You can find them amidst a cloud of smoke and teased hair, sitting on their bicycles, contemplating the meaning of life. The other Cumberland's serves as the meeting place for the older crowd. There they sit on their cars in a cloud of smoke, discussing more sophisticated topics such as the ingredients of beef jerky or how they get the cream filling inside of Twinkies.

Alas, our journey finally came to an end with the close of the day. We both now understand that Carver has a soul that runs deeper than the bogs that surround it. It is a town with character and intelligence. Yes, Carver could easily be referred to as the Athens of Massachusetts.

WHAT TO WEAR

A Column by Christian Lownds

What to wear, what to wear? For some, this is one of the first things we think of as the morning robs us of our sleep. With increasing frequency, though, schools are trying to take that answer out of our hands and put it into theirs. School uniforms are gaining growing popularity across the country, not only at private schools but at public schools as well. At schools where students are not made to wear uniforms (which, incidentally are almost always chosen by the administration with little or no input from the youth who will be forced to wear them), there is usually some sort of archaic, sexist dress code that was devised by an administration that grew up during the forties and fifties, and for the most part, does not have its finger on the pulse of our sub-culture.

Dress codes in schools became a major issue during the late eighties when there was a sharp increase in the number of gangs across the country and a drastic increase in the number of children bringing weapons to school. In order to remedy these problems, some schools began to ban the over-sized Starter jackets, colors commonly associated with gangs, and certain sports-team logos and clothing. Other schools, despite nearly non-existent gang activity, hopped on the dress-code bandwagon and toughened up codes that had been more than adequate for the schools in the past.

While the need for dress codes can be justified by saying that they are created in the interest of public safety, that baggy clothes are easier to hide weapons in, that wearing gang colors promotes gang violence, etc., in schools where these concerns are not an issue, these arguments are invalid; and the questions of personal freedom is raised. What about the students' sense of individuality and identity? What about the students' freedom to choose what they will wear and when?

In some schools, the dress code has been designed to forbid only certain articles of clothing and in doing so to create a dress code that is actually sexist. Some schools' dress codes forbid only articles of clothing that are worn by females, items such as halter tops and rings. Others have codes that forbid things such as hats and Starter jackets, items traditionally worn primarily by males. In many of these schools, students have called in the A.C.L.U. to challenge the dress codes and have won.

So, while the dress code may be a necessary measure against student violence in some schools, in other schools the measures are being taken to an unnecessary extreme. In still others, certain aspects of the dress code seem to have been brought about for no intelligible reason, and even the schools' administrators can not explain why the codes prohibit wearing some types of clothing (or maybe they just do not want to explain).

Why do we have certain dress restrictions here in Carver High? Why can't we wear hats, and why are some accessories counted as dangerous weapons? How much of this is a carry-over from our years as part of a regional school system where what was necessary in one school had to be handled the same in all schools? Furthermore, why are the CHS restrictions only enforced for certain members of the population? Is there a real need for restrictions? It just seems common sense that in a school where violence is not a problem, the administration should concentrate on the areas that are problems and forget the hats, etc.

CRUSADER STAFF

Band

Despite the low number of upperclassmen involved in the Carver Crusader Band, they have proven to use this to their advantage, under the guidance of conductor Gary Hyman. Band officers this year were Rebecca Seaman, president; Laura Crowell, secretary. Senior Rebecca Seamans has demonstrated supreme talent with the flute and piccolo and was accepted to the All-Senior Honor Band held at the University of Massachusetts, she participated in the Senior District Music Festival. Senior Kim Arabie was an integral part of the Carver Crusader Band. Because of her talent with the clarinet, she was recommended for the All-Senior Honor Band at the University of Massachusetts.

The band, a full-time conductor, Gary Hyman, plays at football games, pep rallies, and performs concerts with the Crusaders.

Color Guard

The Crusader Color Guard is a synchronized marching unit which started three years ago. The Color Guard has participated in the Memorial Day Parade, the Horribles Parade, Thanksgiving Day Football Game, and several pep rallies. The Color Guard is organized and coached by Eileen Holzman and consists of five senior members; captain Kim Arabie, Melenie Braley, Michelle Habeeb, Michelle Loto, and Sonja Pina.

National Honor Society

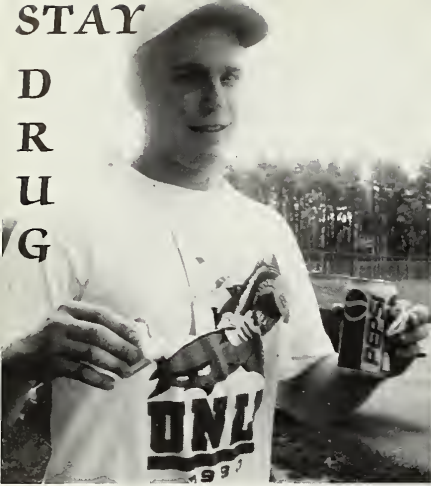

Based on more than simply scholarship, members of the National Honor Society must also show exemplary levels of leadership, character and service within the family, school and community. This year's activities included the First Annual Penny Wars during spirit week, gifts for needy children during the holidays and service to the elderly at their St. Patrick's Day dinner.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS & HOMEROOM REPRESENTATIVES

Student Government forms the backbone of the Student Body. Grades seven through twelve participate by electing four Officers and five homeroom representatives who meet bi-monthly with the entire council.

Carver High Schools' Student Council is an active member of the Massachusetts Association of Student Councils (M.A.S.C.), and participates yearly in two Southeast MASC conferences, the MASC State Conference and the Summer Leadership Training Programs. All of which; combined with community service (this year's program is Toys for Tots), have earned Carver the Five Star Council Award.

Dear Seniors,

The high quality of this book is a result of your creativity and strong work ethic. The memories of your time together live on these pages. These are golden memories. As Chris said in "Stand by Me," "I don't think I've ever had friends like the ones I had when I was 12." The pictures and words on these pages are an indelible reminder of your friendships, your best moments, and your hopes and dreams.

You've dedicated these pages to Harmony in hopes that we will someday be a part of a global community that will transcend humankind's artificial boundaries. If all of today's youth are as fine, as tolerant, as open-minded as are you, we will indeed have a chance to realize this vision.

Love is what is needed. Life is filled with questions and uncertainty, but of one thing I am sure: Love is all that matters. Go in peace.

Love Always,
Mrs. Simeone

Memorable Moments: 21-20 win over Hull. The Thomas to Taylor connection. The "Fake" 2 pt. conversion catch by Helms. Goalline stance against Wareham. Locker room brawls. Throwing ice balls at the soccer team and coach. Sneaking into the E.B. game, and being caught! Brian's broken collarbone against Norwell. Farrell ending his holdout. All you can eat, "Not as exciting as last year." First win ever against Hanover. Skipping the mile. Harry knocking Matt Reera and telling him the door did it as he lay half conscious. Being robbed on Homecoming Day against E.B. Kane shotputting his helmet during a game. "Cappola did it." "It's always Cappola." Lucier's temper tantrum. Meredith doing jumping jacks. Coach Green's slip and slide at Norton. E-Mans Eileen joke. Friday and Saturday nights over the Taylors. Harry getting up. Kane and Dan's win in the Turkey Bowl, leading tacklers Brett and Harry. Emord's winning coin toss streak (8-2). Coach Green's Balls diagram. Perfect weather conditions on Thanksgiving. Jim Emord's pre-game catch on Thanksgiving. The entire 1993 Football Season.

The junior class has showed exceptional spirit and unity in all they set their minds to. This is shown in their hard work and dedication during spirit week in attempt of breaking the seniors tradition of winning the much desired accolades. Although in the mind of the judges they lost, in the mind of the student body they may have arguably broken this tradition. This is proof that the junior class is capable of anything they set their minds to. The class of 95 ran the traditional can drive during the holiday season and was very successful. Also, during Valentines Day, they sold carnations and roses in their attempt of raising funds. For the spring season, they are hard at work for the much anticipated junior-senior prom. Their challenge this year: to put on a prom without many of the seniors due to Grad Nite, a challenge that will be no problem for the juniors. They have shown that they are ready for the greatest challenge of all, becoming seniors.

Erin Casey leaves Hannah, Sara, Jenn, and Jayme four hat men in black mustangs and all her love and friendship.

Katie Sullivan leaves Greg J. a ride to anywhere he wants.

Allison Kaiser, Can I have your imagination for a day? — Megan Webster.

Erin Casey leaves her sister Meredith all her love and friendship, another 26 hour drive to Florida and all the visits she wants in college.

Heather S. leaves Kathleen and Colleen the courage and strength to make it through the last few years of high school. I love you.

Bree, Rich, and Lownds leave Greg Giardini and Jay the lunch table.

Bree and Kim leave Jesse our stage.

Greg Johnson leaves Katie Sullivan control over her body fluids, Chriss Gilson a man, Michelle Loto an air bag, Bree Rolfe a Vedder's sweaty shirt, and Randy Souza stone washed candy.

Hannah Blanchard leaves Erin, Jenn, Sara and Jayme a little white colt that works wonders, a decent date, and her love, friendship and the best years of her life.

Randy Souza leaves Bree Rolfe a date with Evan and Juliana and all the happiness she deserves.

Randy Souza leaves Molly a game of chess, Chrissy her socks, Greg a bookie, and Michelle a year of Driver's Ed.

Greg Johnson leaves Hannah Blanchard marathon telephone calls — WHY?!, Sara McGillicuddy a t-shirt she doesn't need to wear backwards, Erin Casey the ability to tell a joke, and Jenn Libby a pool table.

Tim Wakelin leaves his sister another two years of high school. May she enjoy her senior year, and all his friends the great times shared, and a friend when they need one.

Jim Duffy leaves Mrs. Lynch her 1992 calendar, and Mr. Farrell a jello wrestling rematch.

Hannah Blanchard leaves Greg an answer to his question and a pair of tickets to see Brand Nubian (again), Katie longer hair and Frank a man that doesn't have a girlfriend.

Amy Duncan leaves Cindy and Amanda many more trips to Marc Anthony's and Marion!

Amy Duncan leaves "Mi-Loca-Whetas" friendship forever and guys for themselves.

Mellenie Braley leaves Gilligan and the Islanders singing lessons and Sonja an injury free Wednesday and a pig in a blanket to turn off to whenever she wants.

Chris Speakman leaves Dave Emord a free calzone and a new nickname, and Corey and Pat all the summer memories that they possibly dream of.

Becky Seamans leaves Melissa Wolcott all her socks, a chair to fall out of, and a beeping horn, and the gang with the best memories of my life.

Kym Shorey leaves Allison a Meatloaf CD and Denny's brush.

Kym Shorey leaves Amanda Johnson sight.

Becky Seamans leaves Kim Arabie her everlasting love and friendship, a machine to give to Missy that goes "Ching!, Ching!", and a bunch of ouija boards.

Melissa Wolcott leaves all her socks to Becky Seamans, chocolate to Magy Gonzalez, and all my friendship to April Weeden and Lisa Vissa and everyone who wants it.

Cally Shores leaves Jason Rogers an abundance of hot cocoa and marshmallows.

Cally Shores leaves Jaqui Hill a friend for life.

Hannah leaves Erin a couple of extra oars in case she happens to drop one in the water, the homegirl show, and all my admiration and love for all her achievements.

Phil Skrabut leaves Kym Shorey a seventh period English class.

Jenn Libby leaves Hannah, Sammy, Erin, and Jay all the memories of the past summers and years of friendship to come.

Kerri Asiaf leaves Jill all the good times along with all the men she can handle.

Kerri Asiaf leaves Sara and Jayme a free pass to a driving class and Jay all the drinks she wants, Erin all the horse manure she shovel, and all the best and happy futures for all my friends, and for all the single men in their dreams.

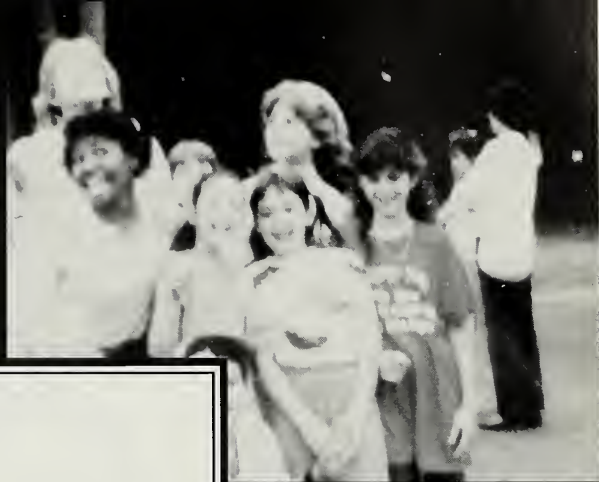

Erin Casey leaves Hannah a man that doesn't love her brother, Jenn an indestructible car, Sara a check that doesn't disappear, Jay an appetite, and Kerri the Patch.

Erin leaves her parents all her love and thanks for putting up with her and a warehouse of motorcycle cards.

Jason Rogers leaves Peter Benson a woman that he isn't afraid of.

Michelle Loto leaves Michelle Habeeb, Stacey, Erin, Tammy, Tia, Jess, and everyone else a party, fine men, the waterfront, and friendship forever.

Kuchinsky leaves Lisa, Kelly, Monica, Ginny, Susan, Greg, and Aaron a dictionary so they will study it and read it and learn everything.

Kuchinsky leaves Lisa and Kelly our friendship and the best of luck.

McGillicuddy leaves Jayme the man of her dreams, a solution to her curses, and all the T-shirts I borrowed, to Hannah I leave Pat, Erin the Jr. Prom she never had, Jenn a car that senses accidents before they happen. Kerri a license and the best back seat driver of the year award, and Colleen a bronzed monopoly board.

McGillicuddy leaves Greg, Look, and Jay Giardini a tassel for next year.

McGillicuddy and Pat leave Corey a car that can outrun cops.

McGillicuddy leaves her parents another cruise to St. Thomas for all their love and support, Jessica the three words I never say, and all my friends my gratitude and love.

McGillicuddy leaves Shaw leaves Kim Arabie the horse in the closet, Becky the ching ching and Camp Bourndale and the chaquita's Bigfords and the 93's.

McGillicuddy leaves the field hockey team all her love and support for a great season and coach Mo some breath mints and a rematch in netball anytime.

McGillicuddy leaves Peter Benson a day in the Sectionals and a snow plow so he doesn't have to use his Mom's car.

McGillicuddy leaves Joe Roberts a free haircut and Jeremy Bradbury a get out of jail free card.

McGillicuddy leaves Chris and Christian a roll of film, and an eternity of co-ed showers, Anna Banana a lifetime of memories and her friendship forever . . . not to mention many more kitchen stories.

McGillicuddy leaves all her friends the best of luck in the future and a place to stay at her college.

McGillicuddy leaves her family all her love and thanks for helping her through high school.

McGillicuddy leaves Mr. Lincoln a good joke, and all her strength!!

McGillicuddy and Tara leave the student council a bottle of vivorin.

McGillicuddy leaves Brett a key to swallow.

McGillicuddy leaves Hannah Blanchard a bedroom door.

McGillicuddy leaves Sara, Kerri, Erin, Han, Jenn, and Chad her everlasting friendship and all of their memories.

McGillicuddy leaves Sara a lifetime supply of tuna fish and twixes; Kerri a license and a new pair of black jeans; Erin no curfew; Han her own Jovi tape; and Jenn an indestructible car.

McGillicuddy leaves Sara, Erin, Han, and Jenn each a man in a backwards hat driving a Mustang.

McGillicuddy leaves Annie, Marianne, Tara, Emily, and Jessica summer of 93, camping, topaz 5, the Nook, all her love and her everlasting friendship and an open door next year.

McGillicuddy leaves Coleen and Kathleen all their memories and many more, her friendship and the best of luck next year.

McGillicuddy leaves Pat a State Champ Title, an answer to all our misunderstandings, best of luck next year, and her everlasting friendship and friendship.

McGillicuddy and Hannah leave Mr. Lincoln the ability to follow through with a funny joke and a crown for the true king of spirit.

McGillicuddy leaves Sara her side of the swingset and a lifetime full of childhood memories, and I leave Jayme her tape.

McGillicuddy, Erin, and Jenn leave Mr. Farrell a dedicated staff for next year, and a clean joke to tell.

To our daughter, Hannah,

The day you were born was one of the happiest days of our lives. It doesn't seem possible that you're graduating. You've always made us proud since the day you were born. You're a beautiful young lady with the strength and determination to be anything you want to be. Always remember we love you and as your life changes and you grow, we'll always be here. It's hard for a parent to let go and give you the wings you need to be your own person. No matter what, you'll always be our little girl. We love you Hannah.

Love,

Dear Heather,
Love is a behavior, not a feeling
Love who you are.
Love what you do.
Love who you're with.

I do my thing and you do your thing
I am not in this world to live up to your expectations.
And you are not in this world to live

GREGORY SHANE JOHNSON

Class of 1994

Greg:

Where have all the years gone? It seems like only yesterday you were beginning your school years, and today you are standing on the threshold of all your tomorrows.

During the past 18 years, we have watched you grow from a beautiful, good-natured, loveable baby into a handsome, caring, loving young man. We have laughed with you and cried with you, shared your pleasures and your pain and taken great pride in the wonderful person you have become. You are open-minded and unprejudiced, never judgmental and always fair. You are an intelligent, creative thinker, wise beyond your years, and you never cease to amaze us with your insight. These are remarkable qualities that will enrich your life and the lives of all those around you.

Graduation is a major milestone in your life, but it is just the first step of the wondrous journey you are about to begin. The college years ahead promise to be exciting and challenging ones — meet each new challenge head-on with confidence, optimism and enthusiasm. Dare to take risks, reach for the stars and make your dreams reality. Always remember that there are no time-outs in the game of life; the clock never stops ticking, and there is no time for procrastination. Live each moment to the fullest and make every day count.

Thank you for all the sunshine and joy you have brought into our lives. Your wit and wonderful sense of humor have given us miles of smiles, and your caring, sensitive, unselfish nature has made us realize what a truly special human being you are. We admire you and respect you, but above all, we love you. Remember always that wherever you go or whatever you do, we will always be here for you. You can always count on us for support and understanding.

No other parents could be prouder of their child than we are of you. Congratulations and Good Luck,
Love, Mom and Dad

Greg:

Take it from one who knows, college is tough but what you get out of it is worth all the study and hard work. Good Luck!

Love, Ryan

Greggie:

You are the first and only one in the family to receive a diploma wearing the gold tassel of The National Honor Society. We are very proud!

Love, Gramma and Grampa Silva

JoJo — As you once wrote:
 Why was I placed on this earth? Why do I look the way I do? Why do I think the way I do?
 I don't know.
 I really don't know.
 But let me tell you something. No matter what the answers and reasons are, I am going to live.
 I am going to live.
 I am going to live a life with what I have and who I may have to share it with. Life is not to pass me by. It is there for me to yoke every smile, every tear, every surprise, and every fear.
 Anyone can have a life. But it is another thing to live it. To experience something is to know it. I don't want to just live the world, I want to be the world.
 As dad would say, "GO FOR IT!"
 All our love,
 Mom, Dad

Dear Becca

First we want to tell you that we love you! We are also very proud of you. It's not just because you are graduating High School, but in addition to that, you are graduating into life. The decisions you make every day show that you are a loving and caring person. you also have the strength to meet life's challenges and give it your most sincere try. Remember we are always near if you should need us.

We are glad that you have been with us these last few years to watch you blossom into a free thinking, maturing adult. You will bring the good things in life to those you love and those who love you.

Congratulations on the conquering of one of your many mile stones. We hope that those you conquer in the future taste as sweet as this one, this year.

Love,

Dad and Faith

TADS

Kym,
You will always be our little girl. Never lose your spirit and sense of humor, you will need them all through your life. WE will always be there for you. Remember where your home is.

Dear Mark,

The years have flown by. We've watched you grow from our special young child into a caring, sensitive young man.

Now you are ready to move on to another chapter in your life. Through the years, we've always been here for you and believed in you. We know that whatever you choose to do, you'll do well. We wish you luck and support as you aim toward higher goals.

When we look at you, we see the future shine in your eyes. We're proud to have you for our son. We're proud of things you've done and all you're dreaming of doing. We hope you know how much we'll always love you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Megan

Jessica —

As we have always said, "We wouldn't trade you for anyone or anything else in the world!" All our love and respect will be yours for ever.

ON A VISIT TO MY DAUGHTER'S ROOM

BY: ROBERT CAMPBELL

EACH STEP I TAKE
WITH LIGHTENED TREAD, SEEMS TO SHATTER
THE QUIET, THE DEAD
SILENCE OF MY DAUGHTER'S ROOM

I'M HERE, AND YET
I FEEL AS A SPIRIT ON HALLOWED GROUND
TO SEE, YET BE UNSEEN
TO SPEAK BUT WITHOUT SOUND

FAMILIAR THINGS EACH IN ITS PLACE
UNFAMILIAR NEATNESS, A DIFFERENT WORLD
OF ANIMALS, MOMENTOES OF HER LIFE
THE TREASURES AND MEMORIES OF MY GIRL

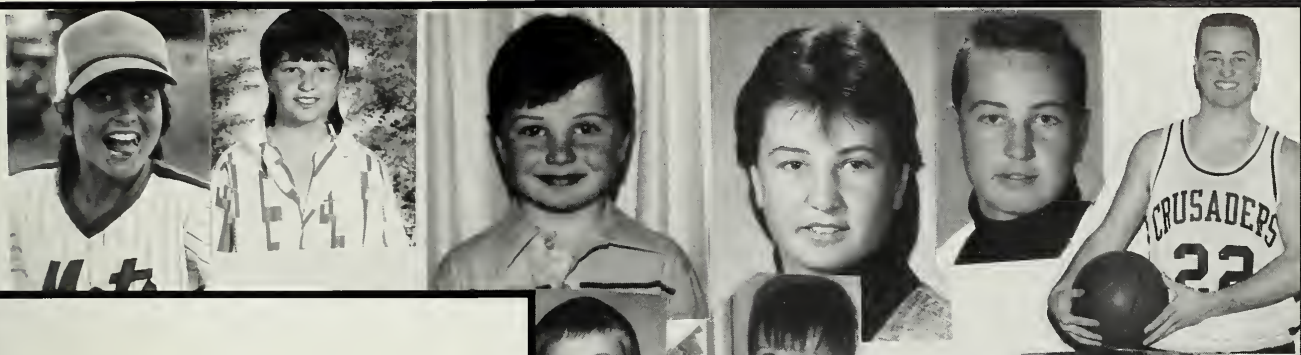

I SENSE THE FRESHNESS
THE SPIRIT OF HER YOUTH
I SENSE THE REALITY
MY MOMENT OF THE TRUTH

NO LONGER IS SHE A LITTLE GIRL
ONE MIGHT CALL HER FULLY GROWN
THIS IS HER LIFE
TOO SOON TO BE HER OWN

ALL THIS I LEARNED
AND I AM LONELY
